Humbly and Simply Bringing the Joy of Christ to Others

Guidelines for attending Mass!!!

Listed below are some things you need to know and guidelines to follow from the Diocese, as you attend Mass:

1. A general dispensation from Sunday Mass is no longer in effect. Only those who are at most risk, as well as their caregivers, may choose to stay home.
2. Update to mask requirements. We will no longer require the wearing of masks for fully vaccinated persons, nor will we require proof of vaccination or ask if persons are vaccinated. Those who have not been vaccinated or those who are at highest risk are still encouraged to wear masks.
3. Holy Water fonts will remain empty. The faithful can still make the sign of the cross when entering and exiting the Church to remind yourself of your baptismal vows.
4. Some seating will ensure physical distancing. The main portion of the Church will no longer be required to social distance. The south pod (on St. Joseph's side) will continue to be available for those desiring to mask and social distance.
5. There is no passing of the basket at Offertory. Baskets are located at the back of the Church for you to make your donation.
6. Hand holding during the Lord's Prayer is not permitted. This is a non-liturgical practice.
7. The Sign of Peace. You may bow, or nod to those around you when you are invited to exchange the sign of peace.
8. Only the Host will be distributed for Communion. It is encouraged that Holy Communion is received in the hand. Those wishing to receive on the tongue must do so only after all others, and the ushers, have received.
9. Gloves are not required to attend Mass but, if they are worn, they must be removed to receive Communion in the hand.
11. Sunday Hospitality remains closed.

Corpus Christi Procession!

This past Sunday, Catholic Churches all around the world elevated the Precious Body and Blood of our Savior Jesus with a procession. We, at St. Madeleine, joined in this Tradition after 11:30 am Mass. After an important homily by Deacon Cuesta in regards to receiving Our Lord worthily in the Holy Eucharist and a wonderful and reverent Mass celebrated by Fr. Jan, the Blessed Sacrament was then elevated in the Monstrance. All of the Parishioners in the Sanctuary fell to their knees in awe of the beauty of Our Lord in the Monstrance. Altar Servers then processed out through the Narthex and Portico followed by Fr. Jan carrying Our Lord under a tent being carried by youth in our Parish. We all followed Our Lord and sung songs to Him as we processed out to Our Lady's Grotto. At the Grotto, we again fell to our knees in awe of Our Lord while reciting the Litany of Jesus in the Holy Eucharist. After reciting the Litany of Jesus in the Holy Eucharist, we then followed Our Lord singing more songs to Him while walking back to the coolness of the Sanctuary. The procession ended with Benediction and Divine Praises in the Sanctuary. Thank you to all who made this event possible.

Splendor of Truth #51 St. John Paul II

The alleged conflict between freedom and nature has repercussions on the interpretation of certain aspects of the natural law, especially its universality and immutability. "Where then are these rules written", St. Augustine wondered, "except in the book of that light which is called truth? From thence every just law is transcribed and transferred to the heart of the man who works for justice...Precisely because of this "truth," the natural law involves universality. Inasmuch as it is inscribed in the rational nature of the person, it makes itself felt to all beings endowed with reason. In order to perfect himself, the person must do good and avoid evil, be concerned for the transmission and preservation of life, refine, and develop the riches of the material world, cultivate social life, seek truth, practice good and contemplate beauty.

Inasmuch as the natural law expresses the dignity of the human person and lays the foundation for his fundamental rights and duties, it is universal in its precepts and its authority extends to all mankind. This universality does not ignore the individuality of human beings; nor is it opposed to the absolute uniqueness of each person. On the contrary, it embraces each of the person's free acts, which are meant to bear witness to the universality of the true good...By submitting to the common law, our acts build up the true communion of persons. When they disregard the law or are merely ignorant of it...our acts damage the communion of persons, to the detriment of each.

The Beatitudes serve the purpose of making us "partakers of the divine nature" and, consequently, of eternal life. We are able to enter into and enjoy the glory of Christ through our participation in the interior life of the Trinity. By learning how to know, love, and serve God in this world we will come to the paradise that He wills for us. (CCC#1721)

Stewardship Reflection on Lectionary Readings

June 13, 2021 — Eleventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

EZ 17:22-24; PS 92:2-3, 13-14, 15-16; 2 COR 5:6-10; MK 4:26-34

As we enter back into Ordinary Time, our readings today remind us that heaven is our true home and that we cannot make it there without God's assistance.

In our First Reading, the prophet Ezekiel foretells the coming of the Kingdom of God. It is through a newly planted cedar that God will bear fruit. As he says, "Birds of every kind shall dwell beneath it... And all the trees of the field shall know that I, the Lord, bring low the high tree, lift high the lowly tree."

We can see that Jesus is the cedar that will become refuge for all people. He will humble the proud, lift up the lowly and produce good fruit in the weakened. It is God who does the wondrous works.

We often go through life wanting to be in control. We try to solve all our problems, as we think, "I can do it myself." We cling to our own ideas by putting certain events, future plans or even day-to-day moments into a perfect little box, "This is the way I want it." We can even push back in moments of suffering by trying to find every possible way to get out of it. We are "in control."

Imagine what life would be like if we surrendered a little more. It is easier said than done — but, oh, how freeing it would be.

What if we opened our clenched hands to God and said, "Thy will be done"? What if we allowed God to be our problem solver or trusted in His plans for our lives? What if, instead of pushing away suffering, we actually resided in it with Christ Himself?

We would become free from attachment and more blessed than we could ever imagine.

Only God can do all that He promised in our First Reading. We need Him. All we need to do is surrender. To help us on this journey of total surrender, try starting each day with a prayer of surrender, "Lord, I give You this day and all that You have in store for me, my family and friends."

Our Second Reading reminds us that we are not at home in this life, but in the next, as St. Paul says, "We would rather leave the body and go home to the Lord." This message is easy to say, but difficult to believe with our whole heart. We might look at our lives and think, "I like my home, I love my family and friends, and I enjoy the little comforts in my life. I don't want to give that up."

Eternal life will surpass anything we could ever imagine and hope for. It will fulfill our deepest desires and aching hearts, and we will be filled with lasting peace and pure joy. If we only knew how incredible our heaven is, then we would give God everything to get there. But as St. Paul reminds us, it is not something we can see — "We walk by faith, not by sight." We are called to have eyes of faith and hearts of trust. Pray for the grace to have overwhelming faith.

In our Gospel, Jesus expresses two parables about the Kingdom of God. The first mentions a man scattering seed on the land. As time passes, the seed sprouts and grows — yet, the man does not know how it happened.

This parable reminds us of our call to scatter seeds of faith to others. Over time, God will work with those seeds and produce fruit. It is not our doing, but God's doing. We need Him to produce the effects — all we can do is be good stewards of the knowledge and love for our faith.

We must ask ourselves, what are the ways I am scattering seeds of faith to others?

There are countless ways to do just that — teaching a faith formation class, leading RCIA or a Bible Study; reading saint stories or discussing the Sunday readings with your kids; praying with your spouse; openly discussing your faith with those around you, both Catholics and non-Catholics; actively living out your faith through service, prayer and sacraments. God will not only produce fruit from the seeds you scattered by your witness, but He will also grow more fruit in your life.

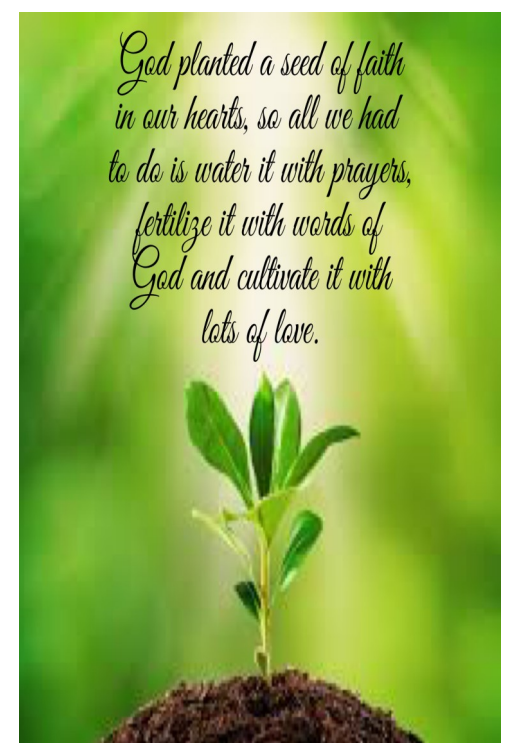

Jesus' second parable relates the Kingdom of God to a mustard seed. It is one of the tiniest seeds, that grows rapidly into a field of weeds. However, in the parable, Jesus compares the Kingdom to a mustard seed that grows into the largest of plants.

The beginnings of the Kingdom started out small, but have grown and continue to grow into something grand. This seems unlikely, since Jesus is comparing it to a mustard seed, but we have to recognize that He is describing the Kingdom of God — something that is out of this world and beyond what we can imagine.

As Christian disciples, we hope to reside in the branches of heaven, along with our family and friends. We cannot do this on our own. As our other readings mention, it is through the total surrender, complete faith and actively living out our faith as a witness to Christ that we can hope in eternal life.

As we settle into Ordinary Time, let us not become complacent, but keep our hearts and minds fixed on the Kingdom of God.
